

PERSONAL STATEMENT

I have lived in many different countries – Denmark, Switzerland, France, Belgium, Cyprus, Malaysia and England. Having constantly associated myself with people from different backgrounds and languages has made me an open minded effective group member. I have graduated with a degree in Industrial Design & Technology BA from Brunel University, which is regarded as the Second Best University in the field of design and engineering in the UK (2008). During my degree of Industrial Design & Technology part of our course is marketing, branding, sales, and advertising to help us further understand how to sell our products we invent. We deeply study different companies and their business plan, and I have over the years gained a fine understanding of sales, however from a design perspective.

My design experience can contribute to several different sectors, such as interior design, graphic design, web design, illustration and typography. But also I have knowledge of materials and their tension strengths, and over the 3 years have had intense workshop experience where the use of milling machines and others are used. Since the degree is partially technological we are also introduced the basics of programming, and create our own electrical circuit boards to run different devices. Considering the vast scope of design application, I find great satisfaction working with graphic communications, and illustration, including web design. I am both very confident and interested in the subject of graphic design and have more than 8 years experience on the subject.
